

Regarding the use of Gas in Australia

The present push to rid the use of gas is punishing those who have been gas users al their lives and am nearing the end of that life. At 85 I do not wish to have the problem of connecting new water heating boilers etc., especially since my boiler is only a year old.

If gas is so much of a problem why are we making money exporting it to other countries?

██████████

██████████

██████████